Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarships Guidelines

Supporting apprentices
in New South Wales

March 2021

Bert Evans

The Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarships initiative supports apprentices who have demonstrated hardship in their personal circumstances and aptitude for vocational education and training.

The scholarships are named in honour of the late NSW Apprenticeship Ambassador and patron of the NSW Training Awards, Mr Bert Evans AO, in recognition of his outstanding support for vocational education and training and for apprentices in New South Wales.

Bert started his career in the manufacturing industry and developed a keen appreciation of apprenticeship training. He rose to become the head of the Metal Trades Industry Association. Bert was a strong advocate for vocational education, skills and jobs.

Bert received the Lifetime Achievement Award at the Australian Training Awards in 2013.

Guidelines

These guidelines outline the application, assessment and payment processes for the Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarships.

1. Aim and objectives

A. Aim

The aim of the Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarships is to assist NSW apprentices who have experienced hardship in their life to successfully complete their apprenticeship.

B. Objectives

The objectives of this program are to:

- support apprentices to progress through to completion of their chosen trade calling
- encourage more apprentices to achieve their goals and make a valuable contribution to their local communities
- invest in individual development to support employment outcomes.

2. The Scholarships

Scholarships will be provided to successful applicants for up to a maximum of three years. Scholarships are valued at $5,000 per annum. Scholarships will only be paid while the recipient is actively participating in an approved apprenticeship in NSW.

Funding is subject to an annual review, in line with apprenticeship progression, to ensure the Scholarship holder is making good progress in their training.

Scholarships may be suspended or cancelled if:

- the apprenticeship is suspended or cancelled; or
- the Scholarship holder fails to meet their obligations under the Apprenticeship and Traineeship Act 2001; or
- the Scholarship holder fails to meet their obligations under the terms of their Training Contract.

If a Scholarship holder loses their apprenticeship as a result of the employer experiencing financial difficulties or the business closing, the apprentice will be given all possible assistance to find a new employer. If necessary the Scholarship will be suspended and may be resumed if an apprenticeship is recommenced within 6 months.

Apprentices who leave their apprenticeship for more than 6 months will lose the remainder of the Scholarship.

If a Scholarship is suspended or cancelled the Department may recommend a replacement recipient to hold the Scholarship for the balance of the term.

Applicants must be active in an approved apprenticeship at the time of being awarded the Scholarship.

Scholarships are available to School Based Apprentices.

There will be a maximum of 100 Scholarships awarded in 2021, including up to 27 Indigenous apprentices under the Western Sydney City Deal and up to 10 apprentices who have completed one of the 'Fit For Work' programs under the NSW Police Commissioner's RISEUP strategy.

Continued funding is subject to the Scholarship holder maintaining their eligibility during the life of the Scholarship as outlined in Section 2 The Scholarships.

Consistent with the aim of the Scholarship, recipients are encouraged to use the funds to assist them in successfully completing their apprenticeship.

6. Application process

Application for the Scholarship may be made by the apprentice or another person on their behalf.

An application for the Scholarship must be submitted via the Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarships Application Portal, which is available on the Training Services NSW website: training.nsw.gov.au/bert_evans_scholarships

The Application Form can also be obtained by contacting the local Training Services NSW office on 13 28 11 (or see Appendix 1 for contact details).

The Application Form must be endorsed by the apprentice, employer and Registered Training Organisation. The application should include all relevant factual details relating to the applicant as specified by the Application Form. The maximum length is the completed Application Form and three attachments or three additional A4 pages.

The onus is on the applicant to ensure that the application meets the eligibility criteria and addresses the assessment criteria, including sufficient detail and supporting documentation to enable the Scholarship Assessment Panel to form an accurate opinion of the applicant's suitability and merit for the Scholarship.

Applications must be submitted online or to the Manager of a Training Services NSW office as outlined in Appendix 1 of these guidelines by the specified closing date. There will be only one call for applications each year.

7. Assessment criteria

Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of:

- hardship
- aptitude for trade training
- attitude and application in the workplace and during formal training.

Applicants who are in one or more of the following equity groups may receive priority consideration:

- Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander background
- apprentices with a disability
- females working in a non-traditional trade for women
- apprentices working in regional NSW (Appendix 2).

The following provides guidance on the assessment criteria:

Hardship may take into account issues such as financial circumstances, family situation and/or generational unemployment, etc. Applicants need to explain how the hardship they experienced affects their ability to meet the requirements of their training, etc.

Aptitude for trade training may be demonstrated by past performance in the apprenticeship, participation in trade skills competitions, written references from employers, referral to school results or assessments in trade subjects, examples of the applicant's work and/or level of experience.

Attitude and application to tasks in the workplace and off-the-job training may include employer's and Registered Training Organisation's statements, providing assessment of the apprentice's dedication to the trade training.

Equity criteria may also be used to demonstrate hardship, such as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander background, people with a disability, apprentices living/working in remote areas, mature-aged apprentices and/or women working in non-traditional trades.

8. Approval process

Once applications have been received there will be a selection process. Those applications that do not meet the eligibility criteria outlined in Section 3 will not be considered.

Remaining applications will then be reviewed in relation to the accuracy of claims made in the Application Form. This may involve contact with the employer, Registered Training Organisation or applicant.

Inclusion of incorrect information will result in the automatic rejection of the application without further consideration.

Each application will then be assessed by the Scholarship Assessment Panel against the assessment criteria outlined in Section 7. The successful Scholarship winners will be recommended to the Minister.

After endorsement by the Minister, Scholarship winners will be announced. Winners will be notified directly by the Department of Education and/or the Minister.

The Scholarship Assessment Panel

The Scholarships Assessment Panel comprises respected members of the NSW VET community. They will assess each application and consider advice from the Department before making a recommendation to the Minister.

9. Presentations and payments

Presentations will be arranged in local areas to announce the winners of the Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarships. Scholarship winners will be invited to attend.

Payments will be made to Scholarship recipients via an annual electronic funds transfer. Scholarship holders are encouraged to use the funds to assist in pursuing their trade training.

10. Support, advice and assistance

The Department of Education, through Training Services NSW's statewide network of regional offices, will provide support and advice in the preparation of applications.

Training Services NSW will review each application in terms of these guidelines and provide advice and any assistance the panel may request to enable consideration of all applications.

Contact details for the Training Services NSW offices are provided in Appendix 1 to these guidelines.
