

This Work Record Book is a log of activity and attendance in the workplace. The apprentice/trainee and employer are required to sign the book at the completion of each shift or week.

A new Work Record Book is required for each school year. If the apprenticeship/traineeship begins in Year 10 and continues through to Year 12, a total of 3 books are required.

Students enrolled in the Industry-based Learning course should use this book as their Industry-based Learning Log Book to provide evidence of their work activities.

It is recommended that this book is kept in a secure place, preferably at the apprentice/trainee's workplace. It must also be made available on request to authorised school, RTO and Training Services NSW staff.

Important information for students

You must update this Work Record Book each time you attend work, with the following information:

- date and hours of work, and
- a brief description of the tasks or activities undertaken.

Please retain this Work Record Book for the entire period of your school-based apprenticeship or traineeship. It is a useful document for you in the event of a change of employer, as proof of your days on-the-job.

This book is not intended to replace any training-related materials provided by your employer or training organisation.

Important information for employers

Employers should provide opportunities for apprentices/trainees to demonstrate work practices which align to their formal training program set out in their Training Plan.

To assist students in keeping accurate records of their on-the-job activities, please sign for verification after each working period.

You must notify the school contact listed in this booklet if your apprentice/trainee is absent from scheduled work during school hours.
