

Community Languages Ambassador Program

The Community Languages Ambassador Program is administered by the Department of Education's Community Languages Schools Program and aims to promote the benefits of learning a language, enhance the quality of teaching in community languages schools and introduce incentives for students to continue learning a community language.

The program acknowledges the achievements of outstanding community representatives across a range of community languages, promotes the benefits of studying a community language and how it contributes to achieving personal goals.

Ambassadors will be community role models, chosen by local communities because of their achievements and experiences in learning and studying a community language.
