

Mudimals

poem by Claire Saxby, illustrated by David Legge

Look in the puddle,
what do you see?

I see a crocodile looking at me.
Her tail curves long,
her teeth are pointy.

Look in the puddle,
what do you see?

I see a hippo looking at me.
His belly is round,
his mouth is wide.

Look in the puddle,
what do you see?
I see a lion looking at me.
His mane is thick,
his claws are sharp.

Look at the puddle,
what do you see?
I see a giant, looking at me.
Her boots are set to stomp and splash.
